British Freemasonry, 1717-1813

Edited by Róbert Péter, University of Szeged, Hungary, Cécile Révauger, University of Bordeaux Montaigne, France and Jan A. M. Snoek, University of Heidelberg, Germany

Freemasonry was a major cultural and social phenomenon and a key element of the Enlightenment. It was to have an international influence across the globe. This primary resource collection charts a key period in the development of organized Freemasonry culminating in the formation of a single United Grand Lodge of England.

The secrecy that has surrounded Freemasonry has made it difficult to access information and documents about the organization and its adherents in the past. This collection is the result of extensive archival research and transcription and highlights the most significant themes associated with Freemasonry.

This collection will enable researchers to identify many key masons for the first time. It will be of interest to students of Freemasonry, the Enlightenment and researchers in eighteenth-century studies.

Documents sourced from: Library and Museum of Freemasonry, London; Library of Freemasons' Hall, Dublin; Tapton Hall Masonic Library, Sheffield; Library of the Grand East of the Netherlands in The Hague; Iowa Masonic Library and Museum; National Library of Ireland; Library of Trinity College Dublin, the University of Dublin; National Library of Scotland; University of Glasgow Library; Edinburgh New College Library; British Library; Bodleian Library, Oxford; Leeds Central Library; Cambridge University Library; Manchester Central Library; York Minster Library.
